Terrible Steamboat Explosion.

Terrible Steamboat Explosion.
Yesterday morning, about half past six o'clock, the steamboat James Guy suddenly exploded, while lying at the Alexandria wharf, making a complete wrock of the vessel, and scattering her fragments in every direction in a most terrife manner. The pilot house, with Mr. Garner, the pilot, was blown on to the wharf, bruising and otherwise infilting Mr. G. to a serious extent. The water in the boiler, which was very hot, was thrown in every direction; the most of those who were injured ecceiving their worst injuries by this means. The fireman, Thomas Briscoe, (colored.) was sitting on the walking beam at the time, and was blown probably to atoms, as he has not since been found, and the beam was so found afterwards some distince from the scene of the

Wanted to Sec his Wife.

A rebel captain, whose name we have mistald, came a day or two since to Georgatown for the purpose of seeing his wife, who resides there, and whom he had not seen for several years. He easily aucceeded in finding her, and calculated upon enjoying a "good time" until his furlough expired, when he intended to return to Diris. His joyous anticipations were decemed to disappointment. The provest marshal some how or another, learning of his presence in this latitude, issued an order for his arrest, which was effected yesterday, and the "ohivairous aprig" furnished with loggings in the Old Capitol, where he will enjoy his second honey moon, minus that indispensable article upon such occasions, viz; a wife.

THE OLD HOMESTEAD TONIC

LET our possessions be what they may—marble palaces, broad lands, magnificent plate, or caskets of "precious tones"—they all sink in the balance as against Heaven's great boon, HEALTH, and they cannot be enjoyed without it. The language of nature attests that whoever would enjoy the pleasures of food, the beauties of flowers and landscapes, the joys of companionship, the richness of literature, or the honors of station and renown, must preserve their health. The stomand is the receptacle of all nourishment, and the fountain from which all parts of the body derive their sustenance. When foul, injurious food enters the tenance. When foul, injurious tood enters the stomach, acute sympathy disorganizes all other organs, and disease more or less painful, must follow. The laws of nature cannot be violated with impunity. How many ladies and gentle-men est and drink disease at late suppers, and arise in the morning with headache, loss of ap-petite, feeling languid, unrefreshed, feverish low spirited, weak, and incapacitated to per-form any mental or physical duty, and dream not this is the beginning of that horrid disease. DYSPEPSIA, DYSPEPSIA, which assumes a thousand slispes, and points towards a miserable life and premature decay? There can be no medical remedy that will turn lead into food, or poisoned drinks into neurishment, but medical science can assist nature, supply exhausted fluids, and, to a great extent, correct the effects of disease, when the habits are absardored. re abandoned.

The Medical Faculty has exhausted its re and overcoming stomachic derangements. Ce tain ingredients were well established as po sing beneficial qualties; among these were Calisaya Bark and St. Croiz Rum. Calisaya Bork and St. Croix Rum.

But still components were wanting, and regularity could not be obtained. An invalid physician, sojourning in the tropical island of St. Croix, observed the habits of the natives, and gathered from them the recipe for the final accomplishment of this most important end. The article was first made and used as a private medicine. Its effects were se salutary that it is now being produced and consumed in immense quantities under the name of

DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS
